Quality Street Is A Great Success

With Miss Dow As Coach Characters Played Roles Very Satisfactorily.

The play "Quality Street," given by the Philomathean Literary Society in the College Auditorium Thursday night, April 28, was very successful. The proceeds amounted to approximately $225.00. A large percentage of this will be given to the French War Orphans.

"Quality Street" is a James M. Barrie play, originally made famous by Maude Adams. On the payment of fifty dollars royalty the play is released for production. Under the efficient coaching of Miss Dow the cast of characters played their roles in a very satisfactory manner.

Faye Townsend as Miss Phoebe Throssel gave a delightful portrayal of the demure little school teacher. The dashing Mr. Brown played by Chas. Wells was all that could be required of an English gentleman of the mid-victorian age. The part of Miss Susan Throssel, Phoebe's devoted sister was cleverly interpreted by Esther Foley.

John Lawton in the guise of a typical Irish recruiting sergeant furnished many laughs. Maude Fleming, as Patty, the maid, furnished plenty of amusement thruout the play by her witty remarks.

The parts of Miss Charlotte Parrat and Ensign Blades, a very entertaining young couple were well played by Edith Shoemaker and Ora McPherron.

Much amusement was occasioned by the frequent interruptions by the "ladies across the way," namely Misses Mary Willoughby, Fannie Willoughby and Henrietta Turnbull. These characters were well depicted by Bernice Rutledge, Helen Baker, and Anna Mae Gillis.

In the schoolroom scene a delightful little English dance was given by the children of the school. Jeannie Blacklock and James Draper were pupils who gave poor Miss Phoebe many anxious moments. Other children of the school were Margaret Deitz, Lela Ulmer, Anna McElwain, John England, and Herman Miller.

The stage settings were charming and appropriate.

It was largely thru the unceasing effort of Miss Dow, assisted by Miss DeLuce and Miss MacLeod that the play was of great a success.

Pictures of the "Quality Street" cast were taken at dress rehearsal Wednesday, April 27. It is the plan

Seniors Have Monthly Luncheon— See Swinehart Off— One Guest.

The Seniors enjoyed their monthly feast last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart and Miss Blanche Dow were invited as the honor guests; but on account of a previous engagement, Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart could not accept.

The table was profusely decorated with flowers of the season. Each guest found that his unique place card disclosed a personal sentiment in the form of a poem (?).

The menu consisted of:

Fruit Cocktail	Chicken a la King
Kerneche Salad	Parker House Rolls
Cake	Bavarian Cream
Coffee.

The cake was a delightful surprise; it was presented to the class by Mrs. Egly.

After the luncheon, the usual brand of Senior merriment was evoked: you'd like to know what causes this merriment at each supper but that is a Senior secret.

Those present were: Miss Dow, Miss Winn, Miss MacLeod, Nell Hudson, Ruby Melvin, Bernice Rutledge, Wave Hulet, Mary Wooldridge, Edna Turner, Minnie James, Charles Wells, Edith Holt, and Alma Lucas.

The party adjourned in time to bid Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart and family, Godspeed, as they left on the 9:29 Wabash for their new home.

Graduating Class Fully Organized— Tree Oration by Ira Fantz.

The graduating class met Friday, April 22 at the call of the president, Nell Hudson. Class officers were elected as follows:

Vice-President, Mary Elizabeth Brown
SecretaryHelen Tebow
TreasurerBernice Rutledge

Rose and green were selected as the class colors. It was decided to plant a group of three birches to the northeast of the building instead of one tree as has been done by previous classes. The tree oration will be delivered by Ira Fantz.

The committees which have been appointed by the president of the class are: Class day program—Edna Turner, LaDonia Murphy, Mildred Burks, Wave Hulet; Class Gift—Edith Holt, Matie Evans, Bernice Rutledge; Class Colors—Mary Wooldridge and Mary Margaret Richey.

of the Philomathean society to frame a set of these pictures and also the pictures of last year's play, "The First Lady of the Land" so that they may be kept as a record of Philomathean.

Food Demonstration at College—Corn Products Used Saves Time.

Miss Velma Shamard, a traveling demonstrator, gave a demonstration of "Corn Products" at the college Monday and Tuesday, April 25 and 26, from 10 until 12 o'clock.

Miss Shamard is a college graduate and a home economics specialist. Her demonstration was very well given and very valuable. It showed the food values of different corn products also the economy of time and energy used in the preparation of different foods. The entire work was scientific and educational and well worth while for anyone.

The making of a cocoa cake with a cooked icing; tuna fish salad with mayonnaise dressing; cheese straws; and lettuce salad with thousand island dressing comprised the demonstration given Monday. Maple Monssie; white cake with an uncooked icing; creamed peas; fruit salad with cooked dressing were made by Miss Shamard Tuesday. The different foods prepared showed the use of different corn products such as Mazola, Karo and Cornstarch. They were served to those present and were very delicious.

Miss Shamard furnished the entire equipment and food which she used. She was brought here thru the efforts of Miss Anthony for the benefit of her food demonstration class.

Those attending the demonstration were: The foods class, composed of Frances Hahn, Mabel Cook, Mary Wooldridge, Lola Moore, Mary Condon, Elizabeth Leet, Ellen Mitchell; others interested in foods, ViJune Colden, Bessie Dinsmore, Gladys Hahn, Mildred Shinabargar, Ada Dinsmore, Mary Margaret Richey, Miss Wilfley, Miss Garrett, Mrs. Perrin, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Wm. Wallis, Sr., Mrs. Torrance, Mrs. White, Mrs. Oman, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Garrett, and Mrs. Bishop.

Minnichecock.

The girls of the College who are members of the girls' organization had a meeting, Friday, April 22. At this meeting "Minnichecock," an Indian name meaning active girls, was chosen as the name for this organization. A name was chosen which would be suitable for all time and not for just this year. We wish to make "Minnichecock" a tradition for our college.

The letter, which is the second highest honor, was also selected. It is an "M" enclosed within a circle and a bar with S. T. C. across the center of the M.

The highest honor that is to be given is a sweater with the Varsity letter similar to the sweaters which were given to the boys.

Relay Team Went to Drake Carnival

Members of S. T. C. Relay Team Have Records to be Proud of—One Goal in Mind.

The S. T. C. relay team left Friday morning, April 22, at 10:45 for the Drake Relay Carnival at Des Moines, Ia.; the team competed with fifteen colleges while at the meet. Both the team and the college are much pleased with the trip because they feel it a rare treat to have the opportunity to attend such a widely known meet and also to be able to cope with the situation. This was the largest athletic meet in this section of the country, twenty universities, fifteen colleges and thirty-five high schools participated.

Our team, consisting of Richard Kirby, Leston Webb, Donald Williams, Richard Runyan and Eldon Steiger, is one worthy of the highest esteem and admiration, as is also its coaches, Dr. Hobbs and Mr. Rice. All have been giving their training serious concern, working faithfully with one worthy goal constantly in mind, to develop a strong and winning team, consequently they make a team difficult to out-wit.

We may well consider something of the past history of these men. Richard Runyan is a graduate of the New Hampton High School, where he was a strong man on the basketball squad and a track winner. He makes the 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds and while in high school has one first and two seconds to his credit in the 220, besides being a member of the three year champion relay team in his high school. Is there any wonder that he is so fast and snappy?

Leston Webb is a graduate of the Pattonsburg High School, one of its best basketball tossers and as every one knows, one of our star football players. In the year 1918 he attended school at Cameron, and in 1919 played football at Missouri University. Such a record and experience gives him a good foundation for athletics; and also makes him a strong member of the team.

Donald Williams, graduate of the Maryville High School, has a record of three years of football playing, one of which the team was champion, two years of track work, a member of the high school relay team, which went to Columbia last year, and last but not least he helped win three relay cups for the high school.

Eldon Steiger, a graduate of the Ravenwood High School, is one of its

There is a better market for smiles than for frowns.

PLEASE NOTICE.

Since the night of the banquet for the Eastern Relief Fund Miss DeLuce has been unable to find her magnifying glass, which was used on that occasion. This glass was a family keepsake as well as quite valuable and Miss DeLuce would be very grateful if someone would tell her of its whereabouts.

Notice to all S. T. C.

The journalism class and its instructor would be most grateful to you if you would either never remove chairs from Room 209 or would return them to the room after you have used them. The staff labors long and diligently to amuse and edify you each Wednesday. It feels, therefore, that you should not put upon it the additional burden of hauling in chairs before work begins EVERY TIME class is called. Please listen to our plea one and all of you.

Eurekans Have Mock Trial.

The Mock Trial held in the Eurekan room Thursday, April 28, was a grand success. A large number of students attended the trial. The Philomatheans were guests of the Eurekans.

A damage suit was brought against Leston Webb, defendant, to the amount of $13,333,333.31, by Leslie Powell, plaintiff, for alienating the affections of Margaret Dietz, the fiancée of said Leslie Powell, thereby wrecking his life and character.

Webb was alleged to have used a hypnotizing influence over Miss Dietz to such an extent that she imagined herself to be no longer in love with Powell and returned his ring.

The first witness for the plaintiff was Dr. Samuel Hobbs (Jack Rowlett) who explained the scientific mesmerizing rays which Webb cast from his eyes. Powell next testified that his life had been ruined by the hypnotizer that he was unable to do anything profitably but to play tennis. Ruth Bookman, giving her age as 12 years, 6 months and 3 days also gave important evidence when she related the fact that Miss Dietz had stayed all night with her on the date of December 16, and that Miss Dietz then told her of the hypnotic influence of Webb. Miss Dietz succeeded Miss Bookman on the witness stand, and on being asked if she returned the ring she replied that she did, at the same time weeping bitterly. She also declared she was very sorry that she did so.

Dr. George Washington Kellar, the first witness for the defendant declared that Webb was a prodigy, having learned his A B C's at the age of ten. Another important witness for Webb was Miss Susan B. Anthony (Alva Burch), instructor of Sociology in New York. She stated that the defendant was her brightest pupil. In response to the question asked by the Plaintiff's counsel, "Do you know Fat Burns?" the witness replied, "I know only Fatty Arbuckle." In Webb's testimony he declared that an agreement had been made between himself and Powell that since the latter was mentally deficient and unable to provide a happy home for Miss Dietz, he himself was the most appropriate suitor.

In the plea for the plaintiff, the lawyers, Mapel and Phipps, played on the sympathy of the jury by expounding the degradation of Powell. They also declared the witnesses for the defense to be mentally deficient because each one said he did not know "Fat Burns."

The attorneys for the defense, Elmore and Houchens, stated that if Powell was so totally wrecked it was queer that he should be tennis champion; and also that just one look at Mr. Webb was enough to show that he was the real gentleman to bring happiness to such a gigantic woman.

After the instructions of the judge, Mr. Hickman, the jury retired to find a verdict. During the interval several charges were made but no serious fines were exacted. The jury returned finding the prisoner guilty. The judge then sentenced him to make Powell a quit claim deed to Lucile Sims for said damages. The court then adjourned.

On the whole the trial was quite orderly. Once Sheriff Price was obliged to handcuff Houchens for loud demonstrations. Mr. Houchens objected, but this was overruled by the judge.

Jesse Boatman was the clerk of the court. The jury was composed of Mary Condon, Iva Lape, Pauline McDermott, Charles Wells, Mr. Hostetter and Eldon Steiger.

Ellen Sheley and Ida Landon spent the week end, April 15-18 at their homes in Hopkins, Mo.

Assembly Notes.

An interesting and instructive program was given by the Biology 11 class in assembly, Tuesday morning, April 26. The purpose of the program was to give a more definite idea of the value of birds and of their work. The following numbers were given: Victrola records Bird songs National Conservation Viva Graves Historic Trees Mary Condon Personality of Trees Mary Margaret Richey Kilmers' Poem—"Trees" Lucile Bonham Play—"The Workers." Leading Characters—Farmer Mildred Shinabargar Wise Owl Marie Price Assistants—Ten Training School Children.

Following this part of the program an illustrated lecture was given by Mr. Miller, of the Scholl Foot Appliance Company. As this was the last assembly which Mr. Swinehart could attend, President Richardson introduced him for final speech to his many friends. Mr. Swinehart has been with the college for a number of years and has rendered an inestimable amount of service, both in the classroom and in school activities. The faculty and students unite in wishing him success in his new field of work.

Demonstration School Notes.

The first and second grades of the Demonstration School gave a program in honor of Margaret Swinehart, who left Friday. Margaret began her work in the kindergarten and is now in the second grade. The program was in three parts. The first was a group of spring songs, the second was a play, "The Coming of the Flowers," while the third was a group of folk dances. The mothers of the children were also invited to hear the program.

Warren Hobbs, the son of Dr. Hobbs enrolled in the third and fourth grades, April 25. He has been in the Snoqualmie, school, King County Washington.

The children of the Demonstration School will give the Missouri Pageant, May 10 at assembly. It has been worked out by the children in connection with the study of Missouri History. The Pageant will include all the main historical events in connection with Missouri, beginning with The Louisiana Purchase and the first settlements in the state, continuing thru the history of the state.

The program, characteristics and episodes will be announced later.

The pictures, which were obtained thru the sale of tickets to the recent art exhibit, have arrived in the demonstration school. There is at least one picture for each room. They are: "Baby Stuart," "Wake Up," "The Mill," "The Coming of the White Man," "The Sewing School," "The Deer in the Forest," "Feeding Her Birds," "An Appeal to the Great Spirit" and "A Distinguished Member of the Humane Society."

Thursday, April 28, a group of ten from the second grade entered the contest in border arrangement for wall paper, at the Bailey-Cummins Furniture Co. The other ward schools also entered and the first prize is enough wall paper for the child's room.

Mr. Leeson spoke to the children in the Demonstration School, Friday, April 29, on Bird Protection and on laws concerning Bird Protection.

Husky Hikers Take Two Long Hikes.

Seven husky hikers started Saturday, April 23, on the five o'clock Wash for Burlington Junction. From Burlington Junction they hiked to Clearmont where they visited the Lost Cabin, and were courteously entertained by Mr. Linebaugh, owner of the cabin. They had a beefsteak fry about six miles out from Clearmont, between Clearmont and Pickering. The balance of the hour and a half rest was spent in reading, "The Master of the Inn" by Robert Herrick. At one-thirty o'clock they started again on their hike to Pickering. When they were a few miles out from Pickering a kind "Fate" offered them a ride which they gladly accepted. They reached Maryville at three-thirty o'clock. The distance walked was about twenty miles.

Those who hiked were: Andrews, Coleman, Argo, Bonham, Tehow, Bookman and Miss MacLeod.

A number of the husky hikers took an eleven mile hike northeast of town Saturday, April 23. They cooked their breakfast and made fudge over the camp fire near Elm Grove School. Those who hiked were: Gillis, Fleming, Cook, Mitchell, Condon, Peery and Wright.

THE GREEN AND WHITE COURIER

The Stroller.

The Stroller overheard the following conversation the other day: As Mr. Leeson was feeding his two young pet crows, Ruby Melvin said:

"Mr. Leeson, do grown crows have such large mouths?"

Mr. Leeson: "No, they are like some young people, they lose part of their mouth when they get big."

Miss Melvin: "Yes, Mr. Leeson, but it did not work that way with me."

Marshall Long is peeved at vaccination because just when he was having such a lovely dream of Nellie, he rolled over on his sore arm and awoke.

The Stroller understands that upon returning to Perrin Hall, Sunday evening after having visited at her home over the week end, Jeannie Blacklock found a surprise awaiting her? It seems that during her absence the other Perrin Hall girls had been informed that Jeannie had entered the state of matrimony; so they decorated the room in white for the return of the bride.

She was greeted with a shower of slippers and shoes, after which she was permitted, as a bride should be, to enjoy the touching mottoes which adorned the walls, such as, "Faith, Hope and Love, but the greatest of these is Love."

Mr. Marcell had contributed the wedding photograph with his best wishes, but the most touching feature of the whole affair was the following note from Jeannie's heart broken roommate:

"Dearest Jeannie, heart broken, but forgive you."—Iva.

Those wishing to investigate the validity of the report of the wedding inquire of a mysterious Mr. F., whose identity the Stroller has not solved.

From all indications Coach Rice and the relay boys had a rather unique time while in Des Moines. They went to movies, visited Chinese restaurants, devoured Chinese farwe along with strawberry shortcake. Some of the boys almost enrolled at Drake University because they were so captivated by some fair damsels.

The Stroller wonders why Esther Foley was so excited last Monday morning when she gave the jitney driver an extra penny for war tax. Perhaps if you will look at the spot light on her left hand, you will understand. What puzzles the Stroller is that "It" is supposed to have come from Father Foley, yet "It" is an exact fit for the fatal finger.

One of the Perrin Hall girls told the Stroller that Mr. Kutschinski is a real wit; she gave the following illustrations to prove her point: Recently Miss MacLeod and Miss Winn were discussing the dresses for the May fete while eating dinner; as they used the word chiffon a number of times the puzzled look on Mr. Kutschinski's face grew and grew until finally he turned to Miss MacLeod and said, "Is the maker of chiffon a chiffonier?"

That same evening he appeared with his wrist much stained with iodine, to anxious inquiries as to what was the matter, he replied: "A Detroit mule kicked me."

At society meeting Thursday Sis Mapel was asked to define flirting: He said he could not give a definition but that he could give an example. When told to proceed he said an example of flirting is Lethel G., and Ferguson on the bench in the lower hall. The Stroller has determined to keep his eye on the bench in the future.

By the way, the Stroller found out from a friend how he could tell a junior the moment he saw one. Since the juniors are to be the dignified seniors in the near future, the Stroller thought he would tell every one "How ye shall know them and their class sponsors:"

Alice Peery by Paul's shadow.

Paul Pickens by his naps in class.

Francis Hahn by her E's.

Lucile Wright by her wee smile.

Elizabeth Leet by her bright ideas.

Mary Margaret Richey by her bird (Martin).

Opal Key by her Taylor.

Bess Martin by her conversation.

Ferd Masters by his trombone.

Mr. Wilson by the West.

Dr. Keller by his good advice.

star basketball players and track men. While in high school he took much interest in the 220 yard dash and pole vaulting. Altho he is little, no one denies that he is fast and furious in his activities.

Richard Kirby, is a graduate of the Maryville High School, with a previous record in high school and college basketball and football, that is one to be proud of.

Tennis.

The tournament of girls' singles, which is being played off, has shown very good tennis players among the beginners. During the first and second rounds only the inexperienced played.

Those who have won the games they have played and consequently are still in the tournament are: L. Garten. L. Bonham, O. Condon, Leet, Hulet, and Mitchell.

A great deal of interest is shown in this tournament because it is the big factor in determining who will win the two sweaters given in tennis.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. devotional meeting was held at ten o'clock Wednesday, April 27. The program consisted of a song by the society and devotions led by Mary Hansel. Following the program a short business session was held.

Iva Lape has been employed to teach in her home town, Laredo, Mo.

Departmental Notes.

Manual Arts.

The carpenters finished last week the large drawing desk.

Charles Wells is making a writing desk and Harold Houchens a library table in the woodworking class.

Agriculture.

The agriculture class has tested enough seed corn, using the ear test to plant twenty-five acres. This was tested for a farmer living near the college.

A number of plants of the following varieties will be ready for distribution within the next few days. Tomato plants, Earlyana and Red Head both early varieties, and the late variety, Poderosa; a limited amount of White Plumed celery plants; sweet pepper plants of the Ruby King and Chinese Giant varieties.

The class has now transplanted a number of the tomato plants to paper pots.

Art.

The class in House Furnishings and Decorations are studying the history of furniture and interior decorations. The tracings made in this work will be very valuable when completed. This work is especially interesting now, as the time for spring house-cleaning is here and a knowledge of suitable and attractive wall paper, hangings and other interior decorations is quite helpful.

Wallpaper should be plain and not very dark. Tan shades or warm colors are better for the north rooms while the blues and grays should be used in the south rooms. If the walls are figured, the hangings should be plain; and figured hangings with plain walls are desirable. Mere fads are not expressive of good taste in decorating but instead choice should be made from a sensible and artistic view point.

This same class has been reading a series of articles on Interior Decorations written by Ross Crane and published in the Kansas City Star and Times. These articles are lectures delivered by Mr. Crane before various clubs of Kansas City.

Biology.

The Biology 11 class went on a field trip to Robinson's woods north of town Wednesday, April 27 from 4:20 to 6 o'clock.

The bird house has been repaired and replaced on a permanent foundation near the greenhouse. A number of martins are nesting there.

Physical Education.

The College relay team accompanied by Mr. Rice arrived in Des Moines Friday, April 22. Promptly at 2 p. m., Saturday the team went to the Athletic field where the relays were to be held.

The relays were very interesting, as well as the fastest ever held at Drake.

The 100-yard dash, was made in 10 seconds, which is very good time and the high hurdles were made in 15.25 seconds, also considered fast time.

Our boys demonstrated their usual good work and training as shown on the home field in practice.

The team stopped at the Randolph Hotel in Des Moines.

Saturday morning was uneventful except for the usual lures and excitements of the city.

Just now the boys are beginning practice on a much larger scale, taking in the various events engaged in, in track work, and consequently when the roll is called at the close of the track meet at Kirksville to be held May 21, our team hopes to have scored a goodly number of points.

Commerce.

Sub-district contests in typewriting have been held at Liberty, Mound City and St. Joseph to eliminate for the district contest.

English.

Stockton's story, The Lady or the Tiger, was told to the advanced composition class and the class wrote conclusions for the story, according to their own imagination. The conclusions on the whole were good. However, John Phipps' vivid imagination put his conclusion at the head of the list for being original and ingenious.

The advanced composition class is studying narration, especially the short story, and will soon be writing short stories.

Miss Winn read to this class the "Last Leaf" written by Thelma Foght, student, in the northern Normal School at Aberdeen, South Dakota. This story won the contest in the English class at that place.

Education.

The class in special methods 61a have been doing some practice teaching the past week in primary reading and primary number work. Some of them report they would rather do practice teaching than any other school work, so it must be interesting.

The society invites all students and faculty to their program this week. Every Excelsior is urged to be present and to get busy in the black and gold aeroplane contest that is now on.

Mr. Swinehart was entertained with a farewell reception at the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening, April 27. The affair was given in recognition of Mr. Swinehart's efficient service which he has rendered the church during his residence in Maryville.
